The 3 Minute Thesis competition is a celebration of the exciting research conducted by students. Originating from the University of Queensland in Australia, this exercise instills in participants a drive to acquire and showcase academic excellence and effective communication skills. The competition challenges students to clearly and concisely explain their research pursuits in just three minutes, even to non-specialist audiences.

A panel of expert judges will evaluate the participants based on their presentation skills.

To participate in the event, each presenter must deliver an oral presentation in either English or Hindi that summarizes their research in just three minutes. The use of a single static PowerPoint slide is permitted, but without any slide transitions, animations, sounds, videos, or movements of any kind.

The winner and runner-up will receive both a certificate and a cash prize.
